FARMER ELUDES ASYLUM GUARDS

Henry Abel Gets Away From Longcliff and Walks to Elkhart.

As a taker of French leave from various asylums to which he has been committed in the past few months, Henry Abel, 42 years old, a farmer of Harris township, is said by local police officers to be without an equal. Abel was brought back to the county jail in this city Friday afternoon from his former home in Cleveland township, Elkhart county, after he had walked most of the way to Elkhart from Longcliff insane asylum at Logansport.

Abel was committed to Longcliff from Justice of the Peace Joseph Wypysznyski's court about seven weeks ago. He had, it was claimed by neighbors and friends of the family, attempted to kill Mrs. Abel by assaulting her with his fists and with a club. Neighbors of the family complained several times to Sheriff Bailey before his commitment, but when he was brought to the local jail Mrs. Abel appeared at the sheriff's office and asked that he be allowed to return to his home.

Say Milk Pail Used. However, upon one occasion Abel was alleged to have assaulted Mrs. Abel with a milk pail and with a stick of cord wood. At that time, Constable Myers, armed with papers from Wypysznyski's court, arrested Abel and he was confined in the St. Joseph county jail pending his appearance before an insanity commission.

Abel was said to have possessed a large number of old coins. These, he claimed, were worth a huge sum of money. Justice Wypysznyski several weeks ago accompanied Abel to a sanatorium in Wisconsin. After having been given a receipt from authorities at that institution, Wypysznyski returned to South Bend, only to find that Abel had beaten him back. The alleged felonious man had eluded the guards at the sanatorium and had fled.

Surprises Old Neighbors. Last Tuesday he surprised old neighbors near Elkhart by returning to that city where he had been in accordance with a broken story of his sufferings. Abel declared that he had been sent to the asylum without cause and that physicians there had said that he could leave at any time. However, Sheriff Charles Bailey Friday received a telegram from Dr. E. W. Terfing, superintendent of Longcliff asylum, asking that Abel be apprehended and returned. He will be taken back to Logansport next Monday.

UNDERGROUND WIRING WORK NEARING FINISH

Expect Ordinance Relative to Fire District to be Complied With by End of Year. Work of placing the telephone wires of the city under ground in accordance with the demand made by the city council a few months ago is going on rapidly at present and if material is able to be purchased the work will be completed before the end of the year.

According to the ordinance all wires within the fire district must be placed under ground. The Bell Telephone company which was unable to purchase wire and other necessary material for the work during the past few months is working a full force at present and according to E. T. Bonds, manager of the Central Union Telephone company, the work will be completed before Dec. 15.

PARK BOARD IN SESSION

Busies Itself With Discussion of Two Ordinances. Informal discussion of two important ordinances which will be discussed at the next meeting of the committee of the city council on the subject of the chief of business at the regular meeting of the board of park commissioners at the city hall last night. One of the new ordinances provided for a city forester, and the giving over of the park board absolute jurisdiction over all trees the property of the city.

The other provides for the division of the city into four districts, called park districts, in which the park board will have power to assess property holders for projects and improvements. Both bills were presented at the last meeting of the city council and were referred to the committee of the whole.

CITY LOST IN FOG

Are the Germans shifting the London fog to north Indiana to avoid being hindered in their aerial attacks upon the English city? Judging by the atmosphere last night it would seem so. The fog which covered the city was one of the heaviest and most unusual in the city for a long time. It came with darkness and was so thick that lights half a block away were lost in the mist.

NO ACTION TAKEN.

No action was taken at the meeting of the board of the Trinity Presbyterian church last night owing to the fact that preliminary arrangements were not made before the meeting. ### CIVIC CLUB TO PROTEST LINKS

Studebaker Organization Passes Motion Against Proposition of Park Board. The Studebaker Civic club will oppose all efforts of the park board to install golf links at the Studebaker park as the result of action taken at the meeting of the civic organization last night. The park board has proposed to establish golf links at Studebaker park and the citizens of that vicinity have been showing a tendency to oppose the move for some time. The opposition crystallized at the meeting of the club when a motion disapproving of the project was passed unanimously.

It was the contention of the speakers who addressed the meeting that the park board could spend the money which would be necessary to build a golf course to a much better advantage. According to those citizens who spoke, the park board instead of building the golf links, should put the money into playground apparatus to be placed in the park for the use of the children and residents of the district about Studebaker park. They declared that more people would be benefited by means of playgrounds with supervision than with a golf course.

An interesting discussion of civics was led by Shepard Leffler, history instructor in the high school who took up various phases of civil government. He did not deliver his lecture upon the European war which was scheduled on the program, but will deliver it at a later meeting. William Goebel lead in the community singing and Geraldine Kelley entertained with a whistling solo, while Marjorie Fields gave a vocal selection.

Following the formal program the members of the club spent an enjoyable social hour. LODGE NOTES

Jims Neither for Nor Agin One Another

James E. Watson, republican candidate for the United States senate, and James P. Goodrich, republican candidate for governor, are not lined up together for the 1916 campaign nor are they fighting against each other. Watson said so himself Friday night while he was shaking hands at the Oliver hotel with other candidates and members of his party, but no "reactionary republicans."

Watson and Goodrich are both here to attend the barbecue at Springbrook park which is no other than a Watson meeting. Up to Friday Warren G. Harding of Marion, O., was supposed to have been the principal speaker of the occasion, but Friday night the republicans seemed to care little about Harding.

Watson is here for a Watson meeting or he might not have come. He was the center of attraction and he was supposed to be, although Harding was scheduled to have been. Watson followers admitted that that was what the barbecue was for.

Some places they say that there is a Watson-Goodrich organization and in other places they say that there isn't. Watson admitted that, but he didn't say much else. He said that he and Goodrich had been friends for years, but not much about their present status. Goodrich has to fight for himself, he said, and he doesn't believe that one will go through on account of the other.

An amendment will be made to the federal banking act, if Watson goes into the senate. He admitted it. When asked just how he proposed to change the federal reserve act, he said: "Some laws have to be tried out before their faults are found. There are faults in this one, but I would have to write it down on paper to show how I would change it, because I know how it ought to be changed."

Charles W. Fairbanks has a pretty good chance of getting the presidential nomination, according to Watson, although he isn't sure. He said there had not been enough candidates who had officially announced themselves to determine the chances by any one chance, nevertheless.

That he was in the employ of the National association, a group of manufacturers, when he lobbied for the establishment of a tariff commission, he admitted. He also admitted it in the congressional investigation.

The increase of 129,000 men and 3,000 officers in the regular army will provide as additional units 10 regiments of infantry, four regiments of artillery, 52 companies of coast artillery, 15 companies of engineers, and four companies of men skilled in the handling of aeroplanes.

An effort will be made to perfect arrangements with various educational institutions throughout the country by which young men, attending the schools will be given the benefit of certain mathematical and other training necessary to the duties and mental equipment of an officer of the army.

In this way the government will be able to possess of a ever increasing supply of material which with but little trouble could be trained to take command of military units. In time the war department expects to apportion the citizens' army to the different branches of the service. At all times the war department will have a record showing the place of residence of the members of this auxiliary emergency force which will provide a speedy machinery for mobilization by regular army and navy.

Consider National Guard. The officers of the national guard are also taken into account for service in the immediate organization of the citizen's army.

These officers are not under control of the federal government, but it is stated that contracts might be made with them, or legislation could be enacted by which state organizations could get no federal assistance except with the understanding that the officers virtually become parts of the federal army.

The plan of re-organization for the standing army does not contemplate the addition of any cavalry regiments. There are now 15 cavalry regiments which are considered sufficient for the country's defense. The war department, however, insists upon more infantry, more field artillery and more coast artillery. The whole plan has been formulated on the principle of an army of demand. Therefore, it is deemed necessary to have at least 52 additional companies of coast artillery. This increase will permit the retention of about 170 of the present coast artillery units in continental United States and will provide a large addition to the coast defenses in Panama, Hawaii and the Philippine Islands.

Navy Estimates in. The navy department Friday night finished up its estimates, this being the last year under which law estimates can be filed with the secretary of the treasury.

Sec'y Daniels and his advisory council considered the naval program Friday afternoon and again Friday night. He has adopted the five year program for the construction of about 29 battleships. It is understood that four ships of the first class will be built each year.

ARMY OF 600,000 FOR U. S. PLANNED

Plans to be Worked Out in Three Years Are Approved by President.

APPROVES NAVAL PLAN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—President Wilson Friday formally approved the plan of Sec'y Daniels for a naval construction program covering a period of five years calling for the expenditure of $500,000,000 at the rate of $100,000,000 a year.

The committee program of new construction for the next year which will be submitted to congress in December is as follows: Two battleships, larger and more powerful than any at present in the navy to cost $16,000,000 to $17,000,000 each.

Two battle cruisers with a speed of 35 knots or about 41 statute miles an hour to cost about $16,500,000 each. Three scout cruisers, speed about 30 knots.

Twenty-five small submarines for coast defense of the size now prevailing in the navy, to cost about $800,000 each.

Five large submarines, with wide cruising radius to cost $1,500,000 each.

Fifteen destroyers, speed over 30 knots, to cost $1,000,000 each.

Two gunboats to cost $1,000,000. One hospital ship to cost between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000.

One fuel ship to cost $1,250,000.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Complete details of the plan for the reorganization of the army which is expected to provide 600,000 fighting men at the end of three years became known for the first time Friday. The plan has received the approval of the president.

It contemplates an increase in the personnel of the regular army sufficient to insure a strength of 129,000 men and 2,000 additional officers within the next two years. One-half of the contemplated increase is provided for in this year's appropriation.

Upon this foundation, it is proposed to rear "a citizen" or "continental" army. This citizen's army is to consist of 400,000 men, 135,000 of whom are to receive two months' training each year. They will be paid the regular enlisted man's compensation during the training—$15 a month. They will be subject to call at any time within six years.

75,000 From Militia. Additional fighting forces, the war department believes, could be obtained in an emergency from the militia of the country which now comprises some 129,000 men, at least 75,000 of whom could be counted on for active service.

These sources the administration believes the force of six hundred thousand men which it desires can be drawn. The cost for the first year, according to the estimates of the secretary of war, will be about $184,000,000.

The increase of 129,000 men and 3,000 officers in the regular army will provide as additional units 10 regiments of infantry, four regiments of artillery, 52 companies of coast artillery, 15 companies of engineers, and four companies of men skilled in the handling of aeroplanes.

An effort will be made to perfect arrangements with various educational institutions throughout the country by which young men, attending the schools will be given the benefit of certain mathematical and other training necessary to the duties and mental equipment of an officer of the army.

LILLIPUTIAN CLAIMS BARKER ROBBED HER

Police Investigate Story of Alleged Stealing of $1,550 at Exposition.

ELKHART, Oct. 16.—Mrs. J. A. Boykin, known as "Dolletta," a Lilliputian in one of the tented attractions of the exposition, claims to have been robbed of $1,550 by a Barker who joined the show four weeks ago in Chicago. Sheriff Thomas and the police are investigating.

Charles G. Seffrit, editor of the Washington Herald and one of the most active republican politicians in the state, was here today, while en route to South Bend to attend the republican district barbecue Saturday. Mr. Seffrit is making a tour of the state, sounding the sentiment generally. He is optimistic regarding republican prospects.

During the absence of James S. Drake, who has been called to Kansas City on account of the illness of a relative, E. A. Bauman will act as judge of the circuit court.

CHICAGO JEWELER FOUND MURDERED

One Theory Brings Woman Into Case. While Another Holds Robbery a Motive.

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—Harry Phillips, a jeweler, with a store at 951 W. Madison st., was murdered late Friday night in the Buckley apartments, 1350 W. Madison st., where he had his home. He was found shot to death on the fourth floor of the apartment building, and evidently had been thrown down the steps from the fifth floor on which he had bachelor quarters.

Two shots through the body near the heart had ended the life of Phillips, and the police are working on one or more theories that surrounds the shooting. One theory is that a quarrel over a woman led to the shooting and that two or perhaps three men had a hand in the crime.

A second theory is that robbers lay in wait for Phillips, attacked him when he entered his room and shot him in flight after attempting to make him give up the jewelry he was supposed to have hidden. Another theory is an attempt was made at robbery for what money and jewelry the victim had on his person and that after the noise of the shots the robbers and slayers escaped without their booty, both money and personal jewelry being found unharmed on the body of the slain man.

SAYS PRESIDENT WILL WED ON NOVEMBER 10

Prominent Democrat in Washington Much Surprised Over Speculation as to Date.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—It was stated Friday by a prominent democrat that Nov. 10 is the date fixed upon for the wedding of President Wilson and Mrs. Norman Galt. It was impossible to confirm the statement although its sponsor evinced surprise when he was told of the speculation which has been rife concerning this very important item of the president's plans. He said: "Why I have heard that date mentioned several times by persons who ought to know, and I thought it was public property."
